In the fall of 2008, Angela Bewell, a volunteer at Care Net Pregnancy Center, received a Presidential Volunteer Service Award at the White House for her dedication of time and talent for Care Net's ministries. Angela began volunteering for Care Net in 2007 after seeing a need for volunteers posted in her church bulletin.

One client story speaks volumes about Angela's caring heart. After receiving a negative pregnancy test, the client was unquestionably relieved. But Angela was concerned for more than just a pregnancy test. She shared with the client about lifestyle choices and that she was worth waiting for. Angela then explained sexual integrity and wholeness. The client was very thankful for the wise counsel offering real freedom.

When asked why people should consider volunteering at Care Net, Angela said "I see God working in miraculous ways at Care Net. Who wouldn't want to be a part of this effort? Care Net has such a warm, loving atmosphere and provides wonderful opportunities for volunteers to use their God-given gifts and talents."

Angela is just one of many dedicated volunteers at Care Net who give of their time and talents to assist Care Net in bringing help, hope and healing to women and men facing unplanned pregnancies or sexual health concerns. Angela and a number of volunteers serve answering phone calls and meeting face to face with clients. Some volunteers instead choose to serve behind the scenes assisting with Care Net's marketing, events or administrative duties. Other volunteers hold babies or assist young moms at The Elizabeth House. Volunteer nurses and medical personnel provide free medical services while others receive training to speak to teens and college students regarding healthy relationships and abstinence and STI education.
